GREENWOOD ROAD FULLY COMPLETED

Road Links Two of Best Towns in State and Gives Outlet Both Ways for Hills and Delta. Imaginative Traveler Recalls Historical Incidents of Territory Adjacent to Route of Highway.

The hard surfaced road between Grenada and Greenwood is completed and is now being traveled. It marks a new epoch in the life of both communities. The building of this road has been something long dreamed of by many citizens. It links the destinies of two of the best towns in Mississippi in a way, perhaps, that exists in no other section of the whole country.

Just somehow there has been for years a community interest, a brotherly feeling, a kinship between Grenada and Greenwood that has been beautiful and worth a thoughtful study. There has never seemed to be any feeling of jealousy between the business interests of the two places. Greenwood is a much younger town, measured in years, than Grenada, but she has had the good fortune to reap of what Grenada and many other older places wrought.

This road was destined to be built. The very geography of fate and the topography of the country between, outside of other considerations, made this road a necessity. But without meaning to make any invidious distinctions, or to deprive any one of any credit or honor for pushing this road to completion at this time, The Sentinel thinks it will be generally conceded that to Mr. Kemp Mattingly, member of the board of supervisors of Grenada County, and General S. R. Keesler, president of the board of supervisors of Leflore County, belong the credit for pushing this road through at this time. Of course it will be generally conceded that no road touching Grenada ever had a more faithful or untiring advocate than Grenada's splendid citizen, Mr. W. B. Hoffa. Mr. Mattingly and Gen. Keesler have looked ahead. They have conferred with and urged upon the state highway commission the importance of the road and have, by personal, as well as official effort, lent every energy they possess to getting aid from the state highway commission. And undoubtedly this road is a reality several years ahead of what it would have been but for Kemp Mattingly and Gen. Keesler. These men are alive to road work. They have demonstrated this not only as to this particular road but as to other roads and public matters in their respective counties.

As one rides along this highway and unbridles his imagination, he can see steamboats moving cautiously up the Yalobusha river from Greenwood to Grenada during those periods when the river was a little "full", and he can imagine that the pilot on deck and the captain of the boat were thinking that "ere long this river will be cleaned out and straightened and that such things will take place that we can travel this river nine months in the year". No thought at that time entered the mind of the river men of railroads that would in a large measure put them out of business. These men were not then justified in even thinking that there would ever be a hard surfaced road traversing these lowlands which in the years ago were more the habitat of bear, wolves, panther and deer and other wild animals than of man.

Speeding along this highway, the imagination sees many things and many persons who once were and who are no more, nevertheless it is recognized now that those who are here no more were the builders of the best this age enjoys. He sees Malmaison and the Leflore family from whom the good county of Leflore got its name. He sees Col. J. D. Leflore, a son of the Malmaison Leflore, at what is now Leflore station. He sees this princely and handsome man about the cotton gin and on the farm. He sees him as he drives in his carriage to and from Grenada and other places. He sees him at election times when maybe he was so lonesome as to be the lone white man at the polls openly proclaiming himself a member of the Republican party. A splendid man and upright citizen he was.

Coming on towards Grenada, the imagination sees Parsons station and the family for whom it was named; it sees Cas. C. Peete and Capt. Robert H. Turner and Col. J. M. Duncan, near neighbors of Parsons. He sees Chocchuma ferry where one of the land offices was operated by Mr. Hoffa (father of W. B. Hoffa) during the administration of Andrew Jackson. He sees the Dement family a few miles back from the present highway; he sees the Beard family and Messrs. Paschal and "Billie" Turner and "Guy's corner" where Mr. Julius Guy operated a gin and grist mill. Just a little farther this way he sees Dr. J. M. Williams, then Curtis H. Guy and Alex Whitaker (father of Dr. W. H. Whitaker), then the Barnes family, the Bews and the Owens and the older Nasons nearby and the Dubards not far away, most of whom have gone the way of all flesh, yet it must not be forgotten that it is to these and their contemporaries this generation is indebted for the railroad, the graveled road which practically parallels it and hundreds of other things that are counted a part of the comforts and the luxuries of the present day.

There are but few highways anywhere in the country to receive government aid that have the historic background or the romantic setting that the road from Grenada to Greenwood does. Did time and space permit, some of the Indian tribes that used to roam over the woods might be named. Some of the startling experiences with John Murrell, noted robber of more than 100 years ago, might be related. It would be thrilling to old hunters to recount the experiences around camps when shots were counted and when the bear and deer were brought in to be dressed. It might be interesting to many to relate the story of a panther entering the wooden board camp of two campers one night just across Yalobusha river and attacking them; it might give a hunter's thrill to tell the story of a panther jumping up behind a man on his horse five miles west of Grenada —there are many other kindred things that would interest many that might be told. But back to the road—

This highway gives a complete line from the Mississippi river on the west via Grenada to the Alabama line on the east. It is the traveler's gateway to the great delta. "It is the road to Jeruselam", east or west, through this section. The road opens up new opportunities to Grenada. It provides a fertile field for Grenada's merchants and other business men of the town. It is the morning star of a new day for Grenada.

Grenada gladly clasps hands with her sister town of Greenwood, a place to which she is bound by ties of blood and friendship which The Sentinel hopes will strengthen with the years and that will be so radiant in all that is best that the two cities may be as places set upon a hill to shed light and luster which may profit in ways that are best of all that is good in life.

NEW MEMBERS CHARGED

Rotary Adds Three to Roster of Club.

Three new members were welcomed into the Grenada Rotary Club at its meeting Tuesday, Oct. 16th. They were Harper Hughes, Erle Johnston and W. D. Boone. Each of these gentlemen responded most happily to the strong and impressive charge delivered to them by Rotarian John Rundle, in which he outlined to them the general principles of Rotary, its aims and objects and the feeling of fellowship that prevailed between members of the organization.

But for the absence of one of the members, the club would have had its fourth consecutive 100% meeting, attendance on the meetings being one of the matters greatly stressed by the organization. A committee was appointed to see that the absentee makes up his attendance at some other club before the next meeting of the local club so as to keep the record clean.

Rotarian R. W. Emerson pleased the club with several well rendered vocal selections, being accompanied at the piano by Miss Katherine Lufkin.

It was unanimously voted to accept the invitation of the Water Valley club for an inter-city meeting of the Charleston, Water Valley and Grenada clubs in that city on Oct. 26th.

Visitors at Tuesday's luncheon were F. O. Parson and Rotarians Lee Denson and Ernest Colmer, of Perkinston, L. B. Jones, of Jackson, and J. D. Crenshaw, R. B. Townes, Jay Gore and E. R. Parham, of Grenada.

RELIGIOUS CANTATA AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Grenadians will welcome the announcement of another musical service to be given by the united choirs of the city. This service will be the second given this year. The first was given last Easter when the musicians of the town rendered some of the best music ever heard in Grenada. The Cantata will be given at the Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon, Oct. 28th, at 4:30 o'clock. The service will last about an hour.

It is a fine thing for the town and churches to have members of all choirs and artists from Grenada College unite in rendering a musical program. This brings together all the best talent that the town has. Mrs. Ben Graham, director of the Presbyterian choir, will have charge of the music. Watch next week's Sentinel for a full program, with the parts the 21 musicians will take.

FOOTBALL TODAY

The hard playing eleven of the Grenada High School will meet the fast aggregation from the Kosciusko school on the local gridiron this (Friday) afternoon at 3:30. Both teams are ancient rivals, both have made excellent showings this season and a snappy game is promised all who come out today.

LITTLE BILLY WEIR DIES

After an illness of only six days, the soul of little Billy Weir left its earthly tenement Sunday, Oct. 14, at 12:30 p. m., and winged its way back to the God who gave it. Funeral services were conducted from the family residence on Franklin Street Monday afternoon by Dr. W. E. Farr, pastor of the First Baptist Church, after which interment was had in Odd Fellows Cemetery.

Little Billy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sax Weir. He was six years of age last Aug. 27 and had just begun his first year in school where he was regarded as an exceptionally bright child. He was one of twins, the other having lived only three days after birth. Little Billy, when he grew old enough to know that he had lost a little brother, talked from time to time about his twin and every Sunday he wanted to visit the cemetery and lay flowers on the little mound that marked the last resting place of his little brother. He also talked often of joining the other in heaven and his sorrowing parents and other loved ones may find consolation in the fact that both are now safely resting in the arms of Jesus and are watching and waiting for them to join them on that other shore where there are no separations, no sorrows and no heartaches.

Besides his mother and father, two brothers and one sister, the oldest of whom is nine, survive. To these The Sentinel extends its deepest sympathy.

SLIGHT RAIN FALLS

A light shower of rain fell in Grenada Wednesday morning early for a few minutes but the amount of rainfall was so little that it was not enough to be measurable by the local government rain gauge, in charge of W. F. Hallam. Monday and Tuesday intermittent showers fell, none of them lasting over two or three minutes and what little did fall evaporated as soon as it struck the ground.

Prior to Monday no rain had fallen in Grenada since Sept. 16th, when a fall of .76 inch was recorded. The last rain of any consequence was during August.

The warm weather continues to hang on but weather forecasters are predicting a cold wave. Wild geese have been reported flying southward, a sure indication that cold weather is to follow. No geese have as yet been heard passing over Grenada, that is, if they have, The Sentinel has not learned of it.

TWO HIGHLANDER TEAMS PLAY FOOTBALL SATURDAY

If Al Smith suffers a defeat like he did last Saturday, Hoover will be president. Two Highlander football teams clashed on the gridiron at that time and after the dust had settled, the Hoovers had beat the Al Smiths 30 to 18.

John Williams was lineman and Rev. R. L. McLeod refereed. We all had a good time but let us hope that Al Smith will win.

PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF STEALING AUTOMOBILE

Charlie Dyer, of Birmingham, Ala., who claimed to have been with the D. D. Murphy Shows at the fair last week, entered a plea of guilty to two charges when arraigned Tuesday afternoon in Esquire W. P. Hamsley's court. Dyer was charged with stealing a Ford roadster from Dave W. Dogan and a suit of clothes and other wearing apparel from his boarding house. He was bound over to await the action of the grand jury next January, bond in each case being fixed at $250, which the prisoner said he would be able to make.

The car alleged to have been stolen was parked Saturday night at the side of Mr. Dogan's house. Mrs. Dogan heard the cranking of the car early Sunday morning and she and Mr. Dogan saw it turn west on Spring Street, just to the rear of their home. Mr. Dogan immediately got in touch with J. P. Pressgrove and they trailed the car north on highway 51, catching it near Tillatoba. En route back to Grenada Dyer protested his innocence but reversed himself when facing the judge Tuesday.

APPRECIATE LOYALTY OF FRIENDS IN LAWSUIT

Since we will not get to see each of you personally we take this means of partially expressing our appreciation to those loyal friends of our mother who voluntarily offered to testify in our behalf in the suit in chancery court in which we were defendants. Although most of you were not called upon to testify, you showed your friendship for our dear departed mother when you offered to do so and we took your proffers of aid as a testimony of your love for her and as a desire to see that her wishes were carried out. We are grateful to each of you and hope that we may in some way be enabled to repay you. Sincerely,

TALBERT THOMAS YEAGER,

ARMY BLIMP PASSES OVER GRENADA TUESDAY MORNING

The U. S. army dirigible RS-1, which took off from Brooks Field in San Antonio, Texas, Monday morning at 11:40, passed over Grenada Tuesday morning at 10:20 headed due north. The ship was flying low and was plainly visible. As this was the first blimp to be seen anywhere near Grenada, its passage attracted a great deal of attention. The ship had been taking part in the aerial demonstration at the American Legion convention in San Antonio and was en route to Scott Field in Belleville, Ill.

John Daniels, of Rice Lake, Wis., might be classed as an "average citizen" except for one defect. He is a poor horse trader and gets stung every time. His wife has sought to protect him from local sharks by advertising in the Weekly Chronotype: "Hereafter anyone either selling or trading my husband, John Daniels, a horse without my consent will be liable to get into trouble with me."

40TH FAIR NOW HISTORY

The gates of the 40th North Mississippi Fair closed last Saturday night on what was acclaimed by all who passed through the gates during the week as the greatest exposition in the history of the association. No feature of the fair could hardly be excelled and the thousands of visitors were more than pleased with what they saw. Most of the credit for the success of the meet is due to the energies, the experience and the activities of S. M. Cain, secretary for many years. He was the dynamo behind every activity and every department and too much cannot be said in praise of the splendid results he achieved.

Although the financial figures of the fair are not yet available, it is known definitely that no loss was sustained. To the contrary, it is almost certain that a good part of the association debt will be retired from the proceeds of the 1928 show.

GIRL SCOUTS TROOP 1

The Girl Scouts of troop 1 met at the high school Monday afternoon. Edna Jackson took charge, and all the girls repeated the motto, slogan, promise and laws. Some of the requirements for going on the local camps were given, and it was decided that we should have an overnight hike to Glenwild the later part of next week. A few minutes were given over to a discussion about work done at the fair by the scouts. Mrs. Atkinson called a court of honor meeting for next week and asked for volunteers to help put over the Christmas Seal drive. Bessie Phelan Sharp was elected treasurer and Velma Moss scribe. We were glad to have Miss Fay Gunn meet with us.

Velma Moss, Scribe.

GIRL SCOUTS TROOP 2

On Monday there was a meeting of the girl scouts in troop 2. All scouts enrolled were present except two.

The motto, slogan, and promise were repeated. The scouts drilled on the laws about five minutes. The flag ceremony was also performed.

The overnight hike to Glenwild camp, which is to be Friday, was fully discussed and all things to be taken were listed.

Miss Fay Gunn told of the plans concerning the sale of Christmas Seals. Then the meeting adjourned.

Grace Kirk, Scribe.

Pressgrove Starts Sale Today That Makes Buying Easy.

The Pressgrove Dry Goods Co. is one of the most widely known mercantile firms in Grenada and in this section. Behind it exists the personality of Rice Pressgrove, a prince of good fellows, always kind, always obliging and a lover of mankind generally.

He has put his imprint on every feature of the big store of which he is the head. When you buy from this store, you buy from friends and from those who will make good anything one may chance to buy that is not what he thought it was.

In a double-page announcement in this issue may be found news of a great sale Pressgrove starts today.

This sale meets the buyer on easy terms. It is put on at a time when people need to buy—when they will have to buy much of what is offered at this sale and at prices far below what the same items can be bought at ordinarily or in any other place. Winter is approaching and nearly every family in this territory will need to have many of the articles that are being offered at prices that must attract. The sale knocks the very bottom out of high prices. It will pay to study the ad carefully; list what is offered and go and avail yourself of the opportunity to meet your winter's needs at greatly reduced prices.

MISSISSIPPI LADY, IN NEW YORK, PLEADS FOR SMITH

The following note was received just the other day by the editor of The Sentinel from Mrs. Rosa G. Semple, head of The Semple School of New York, one of the country's foremost finishing schools patronized by the daughters of the socially elite from all over the country. Miss Adele Hoffa, a sister of Mr. W. B. Hoffa, of Grenada, who is connected with the school in an official capacity, signs the letter for Mrs. Semple. It will be noted that Governor's Smith's character and statesmanship are praised and that the "whispering" charge that Mrs. Smith is socially unfit for the White House is strongly contradicted.

The note follows:

"Just a line to ask you to vote for our Governor Smith and keep the solid South solid! Give him your vote and get as many as possible. Spread the news of his wonderful statesmanship and his splendid character. Tell the ladies not to worry about Mrs. Smith as she can wave the feather fan to the Queen's taste.

"Sincerely,
(Signed) "(Mrs.) Rosa G. Semple

COURT IN SESSION

An unusually great number of divorce cases has occupied the term of chancery court in session here this week with Judge N. R. Sledge, of Senatobia, presiding. Besides the severances of marital ties, the time of the court has been taken up with the trial of several law suits.

FIRE IN COTTON OFFICE DOES CONSIDERABLE HARM

Fire, of unknown origin, was discovered in the office of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association, upstairs over H. K. Barwick's grovery store, last Friday at 6:30 p. m. J. T. Neely, accountant with the local office of the association, was working at his desk and the fire had gained considerable headway when he discovered it. Had he not been in the building at the time, the whole block might have been destroyed but effective and quick work on the part of the fire department speedily extinguished the blaze. Much damage was done to the second floor of the building which is owned by the Gerard estate. The heaviest damage however, was done to the stock of goods in Barwick's store which was flooded by water from the fire hose poured into the flames on the second floor.

The damage to the building is estimated to be several hundred dollars while Barwick's loss will probably approximate a thousand dollars or more. Both losses are fully covered by insurance.

Your fire losses are paid promptly when your insurance is placed with Hoffa & Moody.

SOLONS DEADLOCKED IN REVENUE PROBLEM

Senator from This District Says Governor and Two Houses Can't Agree over Manner of Raising Funds to Conduct State Government. Defeat of Book Plant Measure Puts Bill to Sleep.

(By Senator G. E. Denley)

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 17.—This finds the extraordinary session of the 1928 legislature well into the third week, with little indication that the business of the session will be finished this week. I had hoped that this week would find the last rap of the gavel but now it would seem that at least another week will be necessary to wind up. I am sure that something will be arranged to finance the state for the next biennium. It appears just at this time that a deadlock in the matter of raising revenue is in evidence, but am hoping that in some way this will be settled and that before this is read the problem will be solved.

The house has passed by a large majority a measure almost the same as the one passed at last regular session and vetoed by the governor and passed by the house over his veto, the senate failing to override the veto. This is before the senate finance committee and for some unknown reason has not at this writing been reported out. Another means of raising the necessary amount, known as the Whittington plan, is also before this same committee. This provides an eight mill advalorem collection this next February, six mills the following October and eight mills in January following. This plan is not very popular as some seem to think. This means collecting twice in one year.

More than one hundred measures have been presented and are in the committee rooms or on the calendar for consideration, but my opinion is that if a satisfactory revenue measure could be passed practically all these other measures would go by default. A number of the members of both branches as well as a large per cent of the people back home are becoming almost disgusted with the tactics being used to apparently prolong the session and to get through a few pet measures.

I had hoped that when the book plant was disposed of we might in short order get a revenue measure through and go home, but as yet the deadlock appears as strongly entrenched as ever.

One thing I am sure is apparent and that is if we can get a revenue measure by the next thing on the program will be an order to adjourn and go home.

The much discussed printing plant was apparently put out of commission Thursday of last week so far as this session is concerned at least. The vote in the house was 80 against and 52 for, thus showing that in the past few months the proposition to own and operate a state printing plant has lost much of its popularity, the governor's summer speaking tour to the contrary notwithstanding. It is not dead but sleepeth, and will perhaps be the first thing presented in the 1930 session and perhaps continue to retard worthwhile legislation as in the past. I sometimes think that if this would not cost the taxpayers more than six hundred thousand dollars, it would have been better to have passed it at the beginning of last session. The agitation and attempts at passage have already cost the state almost this amount and the end is not yet.

It begins now to look very much like it is going over into the next campaign and will no doubt be the leading issue when other important and worthwhile measures that would tend toward upbuilding the state will be lost sight of. Am about convinced the saddest day for Mississippi was the day this program of a state printing plant was launched.

Every indication now is that it will never become a law in this state. No one can estimate what it has cost in dollars and cents as well as in the neglect of other things that would have been helpful and beneficial.

The governor's message Monday morning with reference to the changing of the plans for a new insane hospital on the Rankin farm and making of this a home for cripples was rather a blow from an unexpected source. In his inaugural address he advocated very forcibly the appropriation to finish the work started but apparently has had a change of heart and since he could not boss the job vetoed the appropriation and now is recommending the abolishing of the plan altogether, and make the necessary improvements on the old. Surprises come down here however thick and fast, especially when an extraordinary session is holding forth and no telling what will be next.

"When Adam in love asked Eve for a kiss,
She puckered her lips with a coo,
Gave a look so ecstatic,
And answered emphatic:
I don't care A-dam if you do."

WHY THE CONCLUSION OF DAMPHULES IN MISSISSIPPI.

The legislature thus far has not proposed a privilege tax on the merchant according to the number of clerks in his store; on the wood hauler according to the number of sticks of wood on his wagon; on the dairy man according to the number of gallons of milk his cows give; on the street corner loafer according to the number of chips he whittles from a goods box; on the farmer according to the number of gallons of water that flows from his well; on societies according to the number of gossip stories started; on the preacher according to the length of his sermon or on the home according to the number of children in it—but it is still out with a searchlight hunting things to tax largely because of the reckless manner in which it and several of its predecessors have spent the people's money. Verily the tax gatherer is to be vested with that which he has never before been invested and is to be sent forth to find new prey and to peep and pry into other people's affairs, the result of which will make still more people disgusted with Mississippi and her business management and to realize that there are more damphules to the square inch in this state who think they are wise than in any other state in the Union.

DID ALDRIDGE CHANGE BECAUSE HE GOT BEAT?

We note from the press that our neighbor and friend, Hon. C. H. Aldridge of Winona, is credited with having made a speech in the lower house of the Mississippi legislature a few days ago in which he evidently sought to justify his support now of the proposition to print school books, because, as he is credited with alleging, the press of this congressional district "was against" him for the reason, as he is credited with stating, that he voted to repeal the Mississippi printing law at the winter session of the legislature. Now we do not think that Mr. Aldridge or his assertion as to the press really deserves any attention so far as the newspapers are concerned, nevertheless we are going to spend a little space in making a few observations and in giving our brother some friendly admonitions.

Speaking particularly for The Sentinel, we think Mr. Aldridge had every opportunity to know that it took no part in the congressional campaign. It was neither "for" anybody or "against" anybody in the race. We charged Mr. Aldridge for his campaign effusions just as we did the two other candidates. And, as we recall, The Sentinel's attitude was that of every other newspaper within the district save, perhaps, the Calhoun Monitor which supported its home candidate, Hon. A. T. Patterson. The Pontotoc Sentinel may have supported Mr. Aldridge but it was in a lame sort of way.

Just why Mr. Aldridge should have thought that the press of the district, or any one of them, should support him, we are a bit puzzled to know. It used to be that newspapers pulled open the throttle and said "boys, come on with your stuff; we know that you are the loudest mouthed frog in the mill pond, the tallest giraffe in the forest or the most interesting monkey on the limb", but newspapers have learned better than to do this and, in truth, they have even suspected that some men make monkeys of themselves sometimes in running for office.

Just by the way of making an oft-repeated statement, The Sentinel took no part in the passage of the home printing law, and did not seriously concern itself with the fight made on it last winter.

If the newspapers being against Mr. Aldridge, as he asserts, defeated him, then they made a pretty good job of it; he lost his own box, we believe, and his own county.

We like Mr. Aldridge. He is a good farmer. He is an honest, upright man, a good neighbor and a good citizen.

We suspect that he is just a little "sore" now maybe over some local conditions, but this, brother, should not make you jump on the whole district.

Forget it.

I have absolute faith, from repeated trials, of the efficacy of prayer. While the answer has not come by voice or letter or through mediums, yet in some way it has been direct and positive. But the greatest is faith, faith in your church, at the same time with a broad charity for other creeds; faith in your government, when its foundations and its principles have been demonstrated, like ours, faith in your fellowman and woman.—Chauncey Depew at age 92.

LESSONS FROM BAPTIST TREASURER'S STEALINGS.

In this period when so many leading members of the Baptist clergy are engaged in the political game and when so many of them have shown a fondness for flinging bricks at Gov. Al Smith and Tammany Hall, it seems to us that these brethren should be engaged in the job now of sweeping around their own doors, and that some of these Al Smith critics would feel that they have a difficult task in explaining to the thinking public how it was that they were heavy borrowers of church funds from the defaulting treasurer, Carnes, of the Home Mission funds of the Baptist church. Even Dr. Barton, who is bellowing loud and long against the Democratic ticket, is on the list for a small loan of $5,000. Some other church leaders are listed, we believe, as borrowers of as high as $20,000.

It is not stated how much, if any, of the borrowed funds, are being used to wage an unjust war on Al Smith, but it does seem to us that these brethren cannot escape the conviction that they erred, and that grievously, in placing themselves under monied obligations to the man whom they elected and whose work they were to inspect and supervise.

These brethren are making much ado about alleged peculations of Tammany Hall—which, if true, can in no wise be charged to Gov. Smith—but Tammany Hall certainly never pulled off anything like this Baptist treasurer has. These same critics of Tammany Hall and Al Smith are blind to the graft being exposed in Philadelphia and Chicago and other places under Republican rule.

Carnes is in jail. He has served penitentiary sences, yet these Baptist leaders made him treasurer.

Get the Carnes mote out of your own eyes, brethren, before further assailing Tammany Hall.

REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER'S OPINION OF SMITH

Last year. when Al Smith was 54 years old, the New York Sun (Republican) said editorially:

"He has lived 54 years close to his fellow men, knowing the rough and smooth sides of humanity, afflicted by the ills that beset man, hampered by the limitations of frail humanity, exposed to the temptations and the pitfalls of the world. He has escaped the worst and embraced the best; the test of his qualities of heart is his continued possession of the warm friendship of those with whom for years he has been the familiar of everyday experience. He has preserved a continuity of affection for the homely interests of obscurity. He has frequently shown his unfeigned attachment for the old cronies, the old pleasures.

"On deposit in the bank of affection he has accumulated a fine balance. It is worth having and the Sun congratulates him on it."

What finer tribute was ever paid to any man?

There is nothing now, there never has been anything which equals the tremendous power of this vast body if people in every community who have active minds, settled principles, firm consciences, warm hearts, sympathetic souls for all independent spirits to look out and enjoy independent lives.—Chauncey M. Depew at 92 years of age.

I am not disturbed by the religious excitement or controversy which is shaking the land. It all leads to discussion, discussion leads to light and light leads to truth.—Chauncey M. Depew at age 92.

John Smith Writes From France

Sept. 14, 1918.

Dear Mother:

How are you all by now? I am in pain very much now but I hope to improve in the future. My arm is still sore and quite painful but I have been up and around for quite a while.

One day in July as the story goes, there was myself and another Marine in a small hole that we had dug with our shovels and we were tired, hungry and thirsty as could be and Fritz was sending over shell after shell with about every fifth one gas, when I got my pal's attention, you know we were wearing the infernal gas mask, which is not very pleasant when you have to wear it long at a time and I finally got him to understand that if things did not get better in the afternoon we would kind of send up a prayer. He replied, "You have nothing on me, I prayed this morning." But the poor fellow got wounded. I do not know how he ever came out but I do have the satisfaction of knowing that I made Fritz pay for him, for we were carrying a machine gun and I sure did fire on Fritz the very first chance that I had, and had the satisfaction of seeing several fall, but the thing is awful heavy to carry.

Miss Jennie V. Tolley left several days ago to enter training as a war nurse at Vicksburg. The many friends of this bright and attractive girl admire her patriotic spirit and wish her every success.

Mrs. W. T. McGchee and little son, of Greenville, are in Grenada, visiting their parents and grandparents, Mayor and Mrs. J. H. Brown.

Miss Bettie White Middleton, who is teaching at Lumberton, is at home for a few days, as her school has been closed on account of influenza.

Miss Anna Elise Roane has returned home after a long visit to points in North Carolina and in Nashville, Tenn.

CHRISTIAN STEWARDSHIP

LESSON TEXT—II Cor. 8:1-15; 9:6, 7.

GOLDEN TEXT—First gave their own selves to the Lord.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Glad Giving.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Glad Giving.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Is God's Claim on Us?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Principles of Christian Stewardship.

I. Examples of True Christian Benevolence (II Cor. 8:1-5).

The liberality of these Macedonian churches exhibits practically every grand principle and motive which enter into the giving which has God's sanction. Observe:

1. The source of true giving (v. 1).

This is said to be the grace of God, by which is meant that the disposition to give freely of our means is a disposition created by the Holy Spirit. This puts the Christian giving on a much higher plane than that which brings the people under the bondage of the law to give a tenth.

2. They gave from the depths of their poverty, not from the abundance of their riches (v. 2).

Their limited means did not cause them to restrict their gifts, but their deep poverty abounded unto the "riches of their liberality." On the basis of this philosophy our poverty ought to be a call for greater generosity, for God has promised that if we give liberally He will give liberally in return. Increase comes not by holding, but by giving.

3. Their willingness surpassed their ability (v. 3).

God's gifts are reckoned by the degree of willingness, not by the amount given (II Cor. 8:12; 9:7).

If such grace were to come upon the churches today, there would be an abundance of funds to carry on the Lord's work, for there never has been a day when there was such unlimited ability to give.

4. They were insistent on being allowed the privilege of giving (v. 4).

They did not need to be pressed into giving. How far we have departed from the apostolic method. Today we employ the shrewdest men in financial affairs that can be found to make appeals at our missionary meetings and the dedication of our churches.

5. They first gave themselves to the Lord (v. 5).

This is most fundamental to right giving, for when one gives himself to the Lord there is no reason for withholding his gifts. If one does not give himself to the Lord there will be the desire to retain as much for self as can be done within the bounds of respectability. The only right method of raising money for the Lord is first to induce men and women to give their lives to the Lord and then to give of their possessions. The only method which has God's sanction is a consecrated hand in its own pocket.

II. Emulation of Macedonian Benevolence Urged (II Cor. 8:6-15).

Moved by the generosity of the Macedonian churches, Paul desired Titus to commend to the Corinthians the same grace he urged upon them, giving.

1. Not as a command (v. 8). It must be spontaneous—liberal.

2. As a proof of the sincerity of their love (v. 8). Love is more than mere sentiment; it is benevolent action toward the object loved.

3. As the completion and harmony of Christian character (v. 7).

The Corinthian church abounded in spiritual gifts such as faith, utterance, knowledge, diligence, and in love for their ministers. But the grace of liberality was needful for the harmony of their lives. The stingy man is lopsided in his character, unsymmetrical.

4. The self-sacrificing example of Christ (v. 9). Self-sacrifice is the test of love. Christ's self-denial and sacrifice is the supreme example of love.

5. Because the true principles upon which gifts are acceptable with God is a willing mind (vv. 10-12). God does not estimate the value of a gift on the ground of its intrinsic worth, but the underlying motive of the giver.

6. Because of a common equality (vv. 13-15). Every Christian should give something. The law governing the gift is ability.

III. Encouragement to Give (II Cor. 9:6, 7).

1. The volume of reaping is based upon the sowing (v. 6). Those who sow sparingly cannot expect to reap bountifully.

2. There should be a heart purpose (v. 7). This calls for intelligence as to the object of giving.

3. Giving should not be of necessity (v. 7). No particular value accrues to the giver who does it because of pressure.

4. God loves a cheerful giver (v. 7). The one who has the right understanding of his responsibility toward God with reference to temporal possessions will regard giving as a glorious privilege.

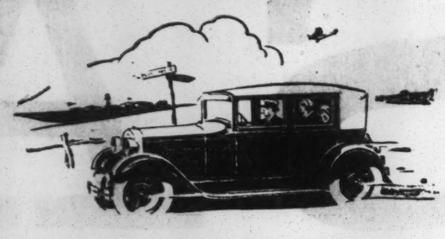
To the 5000 who daily become owners of the new Ford car



THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car for one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These are also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the up-keep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

Included in the Free Inspection Service is a check-up of the battery, the generator charging rate, the distributor, the carburetor adjustment, lights, brakes, shock absorbers, tire inflation and steering gear. The engine oil is also changed and chassis lubricated.

No charge whatever is made for labor or materials incidental to this inspection service, except where repairs are necessary because of accident, neglect, or misuse.

The labor of changing the engine oil and lubricating the chassis is also free, although a charge is made for the new oil.

We believe that when you see the good effects of this inspection you will continue to have it done regularly throughout the life of your car.

Wherever you live, you will find the Ford dealer very helpful in keeping your car in good running order for many thousands of miles at a minimum of trouble and expense.

He operates under close factory supervision and has been trained and equipped to do this work promptly, thoroughly and economically.

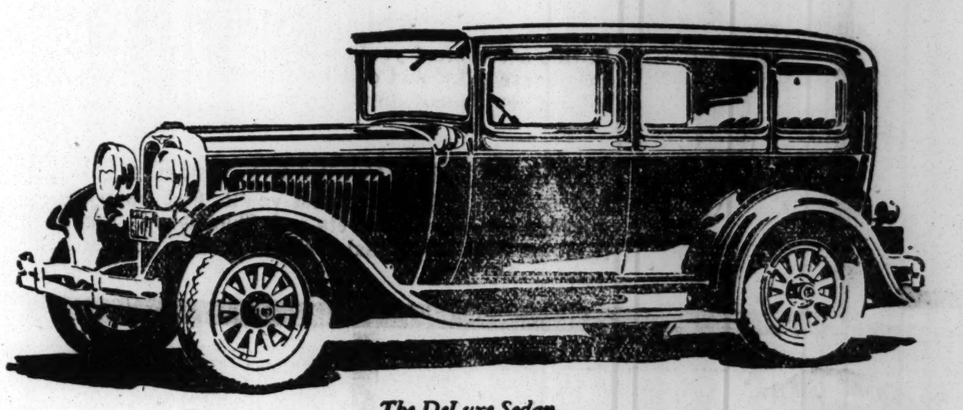
NEW VICTORY SIX



The DeLuxe Sedan

Smarter in Appearance — More Luxurious in Appointments — With Increased Room and Still Finer Performance

Style stands out in all nine new Victory body types. There is an inviting swagger in the sweep of the improved one-piece fenders, an assurance of power in the higher and more massive radiator and hood lines.

Bodies are not only smarter, but larger, providing increased head-room, leg-room and seat-comfort. Deeper, softer cushions and specially selected hardware and upholstery sound a distinctive note of interior luxury, while higher and wider doors facilitate entrance and exit.

The new Victory Six emphasizes the unusual structural advantages first introduced in the original Victory. The chassis frame is so bolted to the body that it literally becomes a part thereof—a simplified, more rugged, and squeak-proof construction that reduces weight, eliminates rattles and lowers the center of gravity.

This unique Victory design provides roadability and riding ease as remarkable and unusual as Victory pick-up, power and flexibility.

There is just one way to find out how different and better Victory performance really is. Drive the car yourself!

Elaborate Party for Bride-Elect.

One of the most elaborate parties of the season was the bridge party given in honor of the popular bride-elect, Miss Edith Pearson, Tuesday afternoon at the lovely home of Mrs. Roy Burt, which was given by Mrs. Burt and Mrs. Sam Hall Garner. Pink and yellow was the color scheme which was carried out in the decorations and the flowers.

The honoree's table, which was underneath the chandelier in the dining room, was a lovely setting for the handsomely gowned bride-to-be. Streamers of pink and yellow crepe paper hung from lights shaded in the same colors, reached to the four corners of the table, which had a cover of pink, with a lace centerpiece, on which stood a miniature bride and groom.

Pink roses and yellow autumn flowers were in profusion throughout the lovely rooms where the games of bridge were played.

As the guests arrived they found their places by attractive place cards, each table having a lovely pink rose in a bud vase, for the centerpiece.

A delicious salad course carrying out the colors, pink and yellow, sandwiches with pink colored salad and mayonnaise, crackers, and tea, were served to the following guests, the honoree's plate having a lovely little bride as a favor, on it: Miss Elizabeth Calhoun, Miss Katherine Lufkin and Mrs. Spivey Kent seated at head table with Miss Pearson, Miss Teensie Stevens, Miss Lucy Talbert, Miss Frances Maud Davis, Miss Louise Hoffa, Miss Cora Leigh Wilson, Miss Elizabeth Miller Eddleman, Miss Thelma Jackson, Miss Lillian Perry, Mrs. John Huffington, Mrs. Henry Pope, Mrs. Ben Perry, Miss Katherine Todd, Mrs. Harper Hughes, Mrs. Wayne Williams, Mrs. John Pressgrove, Mrs. Walter Allen McCool and Mrs. Eugene Proudfit.

Mrs. Burt and Mrs. Garner were assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Spivey Kent. Dainty pink and yellow mints were served in pink-lined bon bon dishes during the games.

After four series of games were played it was found that Miss Cora Leigh Wilson held high score and she received an attractive set of bridge tallies and place cards. Miss Pearson was presented a half dozen lovely blue-stemmed, crystal goblets as honoree's prize.

HALF-HEARTED
Never Felt Well

"I don't see why women will drag around, in a half-hearted way, never feeling well, barely able to drag, when Cardui might help put them on their feet, as it did me," says Mrs. Geo. S. Hunter, of Columbus, Ga.

"I suffered with dreadful pains in my sides. I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks.

"I could not work, and just dragged around the house.

"I got very thin. I went from a hundred and twenty-six pounds down to less than a hundred.

"I sent to the store for Cardui, and before I had taken the first bottle I began to improve. My side hurt less, and I began to mend in health.

"Cardui acted as a fine tonic. I do not feel like the same person. I am well now, and still gaining."

The head table, at which the honorees sat, was marked by a picture of a bride holding a wedding bouquet, and with bows of yellow ribbon tied at the corner of the table. Place cards decorated with pumpkins were used.

Each honoree was presenetd a lovely piece of lingerie as guest prize, and Mrs. Ben Perry received an attractive box of bath powder as high score prize.

SICKLY, PEEVISH CHILDREN

Children suffering from intestinal worms are cross, restless and unhealthy. There are other symptoms, however. If the child is pale, has dark rings under the eyes, bad breath and takes no interest in play, it is almost a certainty that worms are eating away its vitality. The surest remedy for worms is White's Cream Vermifuge. It is positive destruction to the worms but harmless to the child. Price 35c. Sold by

FAME OF SARGON NOW SPREADS OVER NATION

New Scientific Medicine Proclaimed By Tens of Thousands Who Have Taken It As Greatest Medicine of All Time.

Never before, perhaps, in all history has the demand for a proprietary medicine ever approached the wonderful record that is now being made by Sargon, the new scientific formula which has been accomplishing such remarkable results throughout this section. Its fame has spread over the entire country and no matter where you go, Sargon is the most talked of medicine in the country today. Nothing like it has ever been seen before.

Sargon was first placed on the market just a little over six months ago. Its success was immediate and people everywhere were quick to recognize in it a new and epoch-making product—a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. In each of the leading cities where it has been introduced it has required from 70,000 to 100,000 bottles to supply the unprecedented demand, establishing a record probably never before equaled in the history of the drug trade.

Countless thousands of men and women, in all walks of life, suffering with stomach, liver and bowel troubles, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse have voluntarily come forward and testified that they have been fully restored to their normal health, strength and weight by its use.

Still others, who seemed fairly well, yet suffered with constipation in its worst form, indigestion, dyspepsia, bad breath, headaches, shortness of breath, bad complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and of terribly dejected, depressed feelings, state that they have been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and restored to health and happiness.

Sargon is unlike any other medicine ever before made available to the public. It is the answer of modern medical science for something that will relieve what is called the ordinary ailments of mankind, endorsed by druggists throughout the nation and proclaimed by tens of thousands of people who have actually taken it as the greatest medicine of all time.

Sargon may be obtained in Grenada from Corner Drug Store.

Suffering With SICK HEADACHES

Mr. Charles F. Todd, of Estesburg near Waynesburg, Ky., says:

"I was suffering with nervous headaches. About once a week I would have these headaches, and have to quit work, and go to bed for about twenty-four hours. I would have pains in my neck, and right behind my right ear.

"A merchant at Estesburg told me to try taking Black-Draught, which I did.

"It relieved me. From that time on, I would take Black-Draught as soon as I felt like I was going to have one of those headaches—and they wouldn't come on.

"Every few weeks, I take three or four doses of Black-Draught, and I feel so well, and do my work, and don't lose any more time with headache."

Turner-Pearson.

An early fall wedding of interest was solemnized Thursday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock at the home of Mr. I. O. Pearson, when his daughter, Edith, became the bride of Mr. Robert J. Turner, Jr., of Kosciusko, Mississippi.

The living room and dining room, between which the ceremony took place, were beautifully and artistically decorated in variegated fall flowers, ferns in tall wicker vases, pink roses and dahlias. Jackson vine shaded the chandeliers in the two rooms.

During the service, tall pink tapers in silver candlesticks, burned brightly.

The ring ceremony was said by the Rev. J. W. Lee, of Batesville, in the presence of relatives and a few intimiate girlhood friends of the bride.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Katherine Lufkin sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told", accompanied on the piano by Miss Hazel Inman. During the ceremony, Miss Lufkin softly played, "To A Wild Rose".

The bride was most becomingly gowned in a smart fall cape model of black satin-back crepe, with red and beige trimmings and harmonizing accessories. She carried a corsage of red rosebuds. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. John Huffington, as matron of honor, who wore a two-piece model of French-blue georgette and cream lace.

Immediately after the ceremony, the couple left for a two weeks' trip which will include Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Niagara Falls and Chicago.

Mrs. Turner is unusually popular and has a wide circle of friends, who regret that her marriage takes her away from Grenada.

She was reared in a Christian home and since childhood has had instilled in her those graces that go to develop the highest and best in womanhood and has had that experience in the home that equips her admirably to properly assume the added responsibilities she has taken upon herself.

Mr. Turner is a valued employee in the clerical department of the Illinois Central Railroad offices at Kosciusko, where the couple will make their home.

He is esteemed most highly in his community and he has earned the regard of those in Grenada who have come to know him. He is a young man of pleasing personality, quickly gaining the confidence of those with whom he comes in contact.

The out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Turner, Sr., father and mother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cook, Mr. John Turner and Mr. Dudley Brand, of Kosciusko.

This paper joins in the congratulations that have been showered upon the happy pair.

The Fair

The fair which ended last Saturday was a crowning success from every point of view. Those of our group who had exhibits at the fair were up and wide awake. The representative agents from the several counties of the fair district had some winning exhibits that measured up to any found in any of the display departments. They had the products in unlimited variety so tastefully arranged that our white friends were loud in their praise of their efforts and achievements. There were many exhibits in which many useful things for the home were made, practically out of nothing, things that most people regard as useless waste were taken up and utilized and made serviceable. It demonstrates that when the mind gets to work there is no telling what it can bring forth. People who have money and means find it easy to develop pretty things when they have material upon which to bring it out but when one must make the foundation he shows originality. "Necessity becomes the mother of invention" and an enlargement of capability follows. We enjoyed looking at old rag sacks and what not that had been washed, dyed and so skillfully plaited together that they presented charming rugs, table covers, etc. Our boys and girls are really taking advantage of this opportunity along these lines. Each year we observe improvement. Something out of the ordinary is brought in. The farming class among our people is not a whit behind the more favored of our community for we did not see any of the products of our group that did not measure up to any of the exhibits. We ought to feel proud of the opportunity of being allowed to place our achievements in agriculture, art, etc., along by the side of the most favored of the community. Much credit is due the county demonstration agent and domestic science teachers in our schools for much of this development and economic improvement.

During the fair the Pineywood school, of which Prof. Laurence C. Jones is the founder and president, gave two entertainments from the grandstand last Friday night and Saturday evening. They delighted the hearers most satisfactorily. They travel in their own housed car. We learn that these ladies who do the singing make a hit wherever they go.

President Ramsey, of the M. I. College of Holly Springs, attended the fair and voiced his praise of the exposition. He gathered some students from this section who will matriculate at his school during this session.

Rev. J. M. Weathers returned home last Sunday from Cairo and Chicago, Ill. where he had been spending the summer visiting his children. He comes back much refreshed.

Mrs. Daisy Carter, of Sardis, sister of J. H. Phillips, was in the city last week taking in the fair.

Mrs. Tobetha Briggs, of Chicago, sister to Miss Dora Ammons, domestic science teacher in our city schools, was in the city during the fair. She had been visiting her parents at West and was returning to Chicago. She enjoyed the stop over.

Mrs. Cora Blank, of this city, was called to Duck Hill, Oct. 11, an a very sad occasion, the death of her brother, Sam White. He was twice married, first to Miss Susan Jones which union produced 10 children. The second marriage was to Miss Rachel Turner and to that union were born 10 children, 20 in all. To mourn his departure are 30 grandchildren, 2 sisters and 2 brothers. Sam White was born and reared on the McNiel old place. He died within three miles of the place of his birth. He was 72 years of age. He was a progressive farmer and a good citizen. He will be greatly missed by a host of relatives and friends both white and colored. He was a Christian of 40 years' duration. Peace to his ashes.

Rev. B. M. Moss, pastor of Parrish Grove M. B. Church, Oakland, held his regular monthly services at that place Sunday, Oct. 14th. The service was crowned with great success, both spiritually and financially. His collection for that day and night, was $90.50. Rev. Moss is one of our best preachers.

The students of the Grenada High School (colored) are very elated over their success at the North Mississippi fair. Eighteen first prizes and seventeen second prizes were won. The amount of these prizes is twenty five dollars.
